(2) assumes that only the basic personal tax credit is available and that all income is ordinary or interest type income (not dividends or capital gains to which preferential rates apply). The non-refundable credits for EI and CPP contributions have not been considered.

(3) assumes federal and Ontario taxable income is the same

(4) does not consider the Ontario Health Premiums, effective July 1, 2004.

(5) 2012 Ontario introduced surtax on incomes in excess of $500,000.

(9) this rate is for regular employees, the taxable benefit relating to personal use of employer-provided vehicle (taxable benefit is included in employee's income). The per km rate is lower for employees employed principally in selling or leasing automobiles. There is an additional benefit of having employer-provided vehicle available for personal use (i.e. the standby charge) which is calculated separately based on the capital cost of the vehicle.

(10) on allowances paid by employers to employees based on actual kilometres driven for use of personal vehicle for business purposes

(11) rates are higher for Yukon, North West Territories, and Nunavut

(12) higher rate is for first 5,000 km driven by individual employee; lower rate is for each additional km driven in excess of 5,000km

(13) these allowance amounts reflect the key cost components of owning and operating an automobile, such as depreciation, financing, insurance, maintenance and fuel costs

(14) on which capital cost allowance may be claimed; to the amounts there may be added applicable GST/HST

(15) maximum deduction that may be claimed on leased passenger vehicles - based on year in which lease was entered into; there may be deducted applicable GST/HST and PST – this limit is one of two restrictions on the deduction of automobile lease payments. A separate restriction prorates deductible lease costs where the value of the vehicle exceeds the capital cost ceiling

(16) on loan to finance acquisition of passenger vehicle

(26) Amount shown is the monthly maximum benefit - the amount of the benefit depends on how much, and for how long, the contributor paid into the Canada Pension Plan.

(27) Benefits normally start in the month following the 65th birthday and are paid in the month of death (but they may start any time between the ages of 60-64 if certain criteria are met and an application is made). Benefits paid after that will have to be repaid. An application to receive CPP must be made - it does not start automatically

(28) Payments are usually received a few days before month end

(29) Disability benefit is a monthly pension for people who have made enough contributions to the CPP, and whose disability prevents them from working at any job on a regular basis. The disability must be long lasting or likely to result in death. People who qualify for disability benefits from other programs may not qualify for the CPP disability benefit.

(30) Survivors benefit is a monthly pension to the surviving spouse of a deceased contributor

(31) Children's benefit is a monthly pension for dependent children of a deceased contributor. The child must be either under age 18, or between the ages of 18 and 25 and in full-time attendance at a school or university.

(32) Single one-time payment to the estate of the deceased
