

VALENTINES DAY IS ALWAYS A GREAT TIME TO SHOW YOUR ROMANTIC SIDE. Whether your idea of a romantic evening is a date night out, or cuddling up on the sofa and watching a movie together, make it special, make it perfect.

Enjoy your valentines day by injecting your personality into your space. You don't have to go out and buy everything new - be creative and think outside the box. After all, it's about making your guests feel pampered and special to you. Show them you care, pay attention to the details, and show your love - Happy Valentines Day.

Romancing Your SPACE:

Whether you're a cooking dinner for one or twenty-one, inject special romantic touches to show your guests you truly enjoy and love their company.

- Fresh flowers; whether a single flower, or a large grouping, flowers are a must for romance. Add fresh flowers to your bathroom, whether floating in a bubble bath, or a simple arrangement on the vanity - perfect!
- Candles: so important to create that romantic mood, on the dinner table, next to your flowers, votives along the bath tub, pillar groupings, there is nothing like candle light for romance.
- Clean; especially bathrooms and bedrooms, there is nothing worse than a dirty bathroom.
- Lighting; layering your light is the best way to change your room from dull to romantic - instantly. Along with candles, add wall sconces, wall washers, dimmer bulbs on the table lamps, votives, so important in creating a mood.
- Table Setting; break out the good china, splash out on dinner cards and napkins too
- Scents; According to Dr. Alan Hirsch, director of the Smell and Taste Research Foundation, your first impression is based on smell. Oil diffusers, sprays, potpourri, and candles. Candles are the best because they slowly emit the scent. These are the top scents for romance: Cinnamon, Vanilla, Lavender, Ylang Ylang, Oranges (neroli) and Jasmine.
- Hand-made; make a valentines day card, cook dinner, bake cookies...it's the smallest things that always say I love you the most and are always appreciated.
