

AUGUST 2022

AS

LIFESTYLE

TM

LEXI SYLVER EXPLORES HER LEXUALITY

FANTASY TO REALITY:
REACHING THE TIPPING POINT GRACEFULLY

BUYER BEWARE
ARE BOOTLEG ED DRUGS REALLY WORTH IT

ANAL PLAY? YES PLEASE!
UNDERSTANDING THE
SCIENCE BEHIND WHY IT FEELS SO GOOD

BROUGHT TO YOU BY:

Warning: This material is of adult nature. The literature is not intended for minors, and under no circumstances are to they to view it, possess it or place orders for merchandise offered herein

In Deep With Jack "Machavelli" Polo Founder Of Mach Media Inc.

---

My name is Jack "Machavelli" Polo, founder of Mach Media, Inc. and creator of (TXP) Triple X Playground. We established our parent corporation, Mach Media, Inc. in 2019 and in 2021, we launched Triple X Playground the Best Adult Sex Game ever! Although this article is about Triple X Playground, here's a brief look into my life, how I grew up on the streets of New York City, as well as my contributions to the music industry. I feel compelled to paint a picture of who I am so the readers can better understand how I ended up conceptualizing Triple X Playground.

I'm a native New Yorker, born in 1969, dead smack in the middle of the Vietnam War, a first generation son of immigrants, I was raised during the evolution of Hip-Hop in a tumultuous era in New York City. At the time, I wasn't conscious of the great changes going on all around me in the city. Looking back, I realize how fortunate I was to grow up in that time and in that place.

I came of age during ever-changing culture diversity. As a child, my neighborhood in Queens was predominantly Irish. It slowly changed in the early 80s as Colombians and other Latinos moved in, before changing again to the "Little India" it now has become. Queens became a melting pot composed of South Americans, African Americans, Puerto Ricans, Mexicans and Indians providing me the opportunity to see past color barriers and embrace multiculturalism way before such thinking became mainstream.

My personal relationships feature successes and failures. I've been married and divorced. I've been in and out of countless relationships.

Now middle-aged, I finally understand the true meaning of commitment and the value of a happy relationship with one person. I always loved being married. Caring, providing and being a companion to a wife was as natural to me as breathing, though I admit, I failed on many levels, many times. My lifelong desire to "make it" in the music industry strained my personal relationships. It's so difficult to constantly be pulled in two directions. Still, my life has been blessed in so many other ways.

I feel the greatest love for my four children - Jessica, Sophia, Jacob, and Maximus. They are my greatest accomplishments. I owe my health and happiness to them. Without my kids, I would not have survived the challenging and destructive moments in my life. My children have given me the will and determination to make substantial changes for the better. Seeing so many of my own characteristics in them, I've realized I must always encourage them by listening when they speak and reassuring them that their thoughts and opinions matter. My past mistakes serve as a blueprint of what not to do. Hopefully, by learning from me, they can avoid making similar mistakes. Moving forward, I know I must lead by example. I've gone from being a teen deejaying at a roller-skating rink, into a street thug, from an audio engineer and recording artist, into a criminal, from a music producer, to a drug dealer, from an inmate in prison, to a man who has learned how to change and is committed to doing so.

As I mentioned, I have a music background with over 30 years experience in Audio Engineering and Music Production. I worked alongside many musical legends producing music and in 2007, I was nominated for a Grammy. In 2010, my life took a turn for the worse. My gall bladder ruptured. My life was in imminent danger. I was rushed to a hospital in Brooklyn where a caring hispanic doctor performed an emergency operation and saved my life. After my eight week recovery, I came out the hospital eager to get back to my music production only to find out that my storage unit had been auctioned off for lack of payment and I lost everything! I mean my entire recording studio, but more importantly all my compositions and masters of over twenty six years of hard work. The loss was more than I could bear and it caused me to lose sight of what was important and I ended up making some bad choices that landed me in Federal Prison where I served a five year sentence for attempt to distribute Oxycodone.

This was not my first incarceration. At the age of 25, I spent a year in Rikers Island for a gun possession. That first time in jail, I didn't think much of it as I, immaturely, thought I had gained bragging rights. That second time, incarcerated, 20 years later, was a completely different story. I decided to change my life for the better.

Most thought it was over for me. That by the time I completed serving my debt to society, I would in fact come out a washed up, old has been. I began to strategize and work diligently at conceptualizing my future. You see, when you come from nothing, and have fought for everything in your life, you become relentless in the pursuit of a better life. While serving my sentence, I went to school, I got my GED, I took every elective course I could possibly get into, and I enrolled myself in an eighteen month long cognitive behavioral course, where I graduated head of my class. This course literally changed my mindset and gave me a new perspective on life. Simultaneously, I worked on my memoir and my business plan for Triple X Playground. I came home in 2017, at which point I had become fascinated with the thought of person to person communication and the lack thereof due to technology. This drove me to transition into the adult communication sector. I furthered my education by attending Rutgers University where I graduated with a degree in Computer Coding late 2019.

I have many faults and I have made countless mistakes, but I've always managed to resurrect and remake myself. From aimless teenager to audio engineer; from audio engineer to Hip-Hop artist; from Hip-Hop artist to criminal; from criminal to music producer; from music producer to criminal again; and now from criminal to the CEO of a corporation. Though at times, things have seemed grim for my future, there is no doubt in my mind, that I can become anything I put my mind to. Through years of therapy, and intensive drug rehabilitation programs in Federal Prison, I've taken a long, hard, honest look at myself.

But it's important for those who know, or think they know me to see and understand the connections that form the basis of who I am. Once I became aware of the genesis of my thought process, I began to change how I behaved. I am committed to breaking the vicious cycle which has existed in my family for generations. Going to prison has saved my life. It has made me realize how valuable I am, and how valuable my children are. I've realized love is not just a word you say or an emotion you use to manipulate others. I've realized the part I've played in hurting so many people. I am a new man. One who vows to be the best man, father, son, brother, cousin, nephew and friend I can be. I am completely dedicated to educating myself and helping others the best I can, whenever I can. From now on, it's all about positive vibes.

Let me now take you back to 2005, when I created this game with the intentions of perfecting a platform for adults to bask in uninhibited sexual pleasure. My original challenge was to create a sex game that would be tons of fun to play and actually be made of quality working components. This challenge came from a young woman I was dating at the time who had a vigorous sexual appetite.

One late Friday night I decided to pay her an unexpected visit, and to my surprise, I walked in on her while she was masturbating - She was using a generously sized vibrator. At first I was shocked, as I had no idea she owned a vibrator. Plus, I had never been exposed to any of my ex-girlfriends pleasuring themselves with toys of any sort. (Imagine the initial embarrassment she must have felt when I caught her in action). She quickly pulled her vibrator out from inside her and tucked it under her pillow, (still vibrating). I said to her, "Well, well, what do we have here?" She shyly replied, "What are you doing here? You weren't supposed to see that." I assured her that it was perfectly okay, and I asked her to please continue and pretend I wasn't in the bedroom. She shyly agreed after verbally resisting for a minute or two. I took a seat at the foot of the bed and began to make myself comfortable. She stared at me venerably and little by little began to gain confidence. She spoke, "Weeeelll, Okay, if you'd like, I'll pleasure myself for you." I quickly replied, "YES, please continue" in a smooth voice, with a great big smile on my face, thinking to myself, This is awesome! As she masturbated I spoke to her deeply and dark. It all came natural to me. I asked her to close her eyes and let go. She spread her legs real wide as she continued to penetrate her pussy. In and out she went with rhythmic ease. She was so wet as she squeezed her breasts with her free hand, tugging her nipples she let out several moans. I began to feel extremely aroused with unexpected delight. It was a feeling I had never felt before. I cleared my throat and asked her to turn around and continue to fuck herself in a doggy position. She willingly complied. As I watched this silicone vibrating cock enter her hot, wet pussy repeatedly, I became wildly excited. I began to undress as she continued. She spoke to me, "Like this daddy? You want me to fuck myself like this?" I replied, "Oh yeah baby, this is so hot, go deeper. You look amazing! I'm going to fuck the shit out of you!" She let out a loud moan that carried for about 3 seconds or so. I came to her as she pulled her toy out and I drove my manhood deep into her pulsating pussy. I began to make love to her as she moaned and begged for me to go deeper and harder. My actions transcended from love making to well getting extremely carnal!

We ended up having an unbelievable sexual encounter that night. It lasted throughout the night, into the wee hours of the morning. When it was over, we both laid there in a pool of sweat as she shook quietly in a fetal position from the multiple orgasmic explosions she had endured. I laid next to her staring up at the ceiling fan with a smile on my face, thinking, "I just conquered that ass!" A few moments passed and she was sound asleep. I got up still basking in my glory and I sat at the edge of the bed staring at her beautiful naked body. I placed a sheet over her and I rolled up a blunt. As I smoked it, I began to think, "She got me this time" (in a competitive manner). "I have to come up with something kinkier to top this unexpected new addition to our sex life.

You see, at the time it was all about one upping our prior sexcapade. We fucked like wild animals, anywhere and everywhere. Little did I know what I was about to dream up...

I didn't mention it to her at the time, but I began to gather as much information as I could from her, regarding her sexual likes and dislikes. I came to find out that she was completely open to any and all sexual experiences at least once. To me this was such liberating news, it gave me a limitless approach within my thought process, giving me an unlimited platform to play around with.

Needless to say, our sex lives became very erotic and daring after that one night. I became obsessed with the endless possibilities...

Fast forwarding, several years later, Triple X Playground is born. The Best Adult Sex Board Game Ever!

Sure this game was initially thought up as a One-Up type of challenge, but throughout the creative process it has become much more than that. During the next few years of research & development, I've come to understand that the majority of people have not been fortunate enough to have had a level of trust and communication within a relationship, where anything could be shared without judgment, criticism or loss of confidence. I am a strong believer that everyone should experience this magnitude of understanding and chemistry at least once in their lives. So I set myself out to figure out all the Why's and Why Not's, in order to create a platform for couples to come together and experience this magical bond. I've read books on male and female psychology, sexual preferences, relationships, social media and their influences, etc... I researched the internet vigorously. I started a Sexual Desires/Fantasies Focus group, and what I came up with was pretty amazing!

Here are just a few excerpts I've picked up along the way:

- Ideally, for sex to be great there must be loving and supportive communication in the relationship. When this is the case, you will see a dramatic increase within the passion and quality of sex you will be having. And when sex gets better the whole relationship gets better.

- Through great sex, the man begins to feel more loved, as a result, the woman starts getting the love she may have been missing. Automatically, communication and intimacy increase.

- When we first had sex, it was wonderful, but she didn't really know me and I didn't really know her. It took time to really get to know one another. Now when we make love, we know exactly what we like and love. In this manner we learned how to completely satisfy one another, and we continue to desire each other completely. This is what makes great sex!

- Great Sex is not just a reward but something that can rejuvenate the body, mind, and soul. It brightens our days and strengthens our relationship.

- A great sex life is not just the symptom of a passionate relationship, but also a major factor in creating it. Great sex fills our hearts with love and can fulfill almost all our emotional needs. Loving

Sex, Passionate Sex, Sensual Sex, Long Sex, Short Sex, Quickie Sex, Gourmet Sex, Playful Sex, Tender Sex, Rough Sex, Soft Sex, Hard Sex, Romantic Sex, Goal-Oriented Sex, Erotic Sex, Simple Sex, Cool Sex, and Hot Sex are all an important part of keeping the passion of love alive.

In a society driven by technology, the newer generations of adults have lost their instinct to communicate directly. They tend to hide behind computer operated devices. They live the majority of their days glued to their smartphone, texting, emailing, surfing the web and social media sites, even video chatting. It's almost as if, when you finally meet face to face, there's nothing left to say. This robotic and impersonal way of living has created a barrier of disconnect within the way we were meant to build relationships and communicate personally.

Now I'm not anti-gadgets; on the contrary, ironically I'm a gadget man. But let's get back to basics please.

I recently read in a magazine, when asking women both in and out of relationships what they preferred, Internet or Intercourse? I was surprised that the majority of woman's responses were Internet! The same goes for men with their video games and online porn. Our society is at a state of person to person malfunction. It's no wonder that divorce is at an all time high. People nowadays have very little interest in marriage. We are becoming robots, so to speak, choosing virtual computer love over getting to know one another in person and building genuine trust, bond, and relationships.

Contrary to what the media would have us believe, in order to keep attraction towards one another, we don't need to compete with the fantasy woman or man. Instead we need to work towards communicating positive and non-rejecting messages about our sensual and sexual desires. Many of us desperately need to rekindle the fire within our lives. We need to allocate more quality time towards our relationships. We need to learn how to communicate all over again, free of judgment and criticism. We must learn all about one another to become as one on all aspects of our intimate relationships. After all, we all have sexual desires and uninhibited fantasies, dying to come out, but we lack a true comfort level to share them with our significant others. I found this to be troubling, so I decided to do something about it. This knowledge is merely the tip of the iceberg from all the data that I have accumulated on relationships, sexual trends, the media and their influence on the masses.

Through hard work and perseverance, I have created an Adult Game that will take you there, at your pace, in a sensual, fun, and safe manner. With this game you have the capability to completely customize your environment, allowing you and your partner to shatter any and all your sexual inhibitions at your own pace. This game will give both men and women plenty of new approaches to experiment with. This newness can assist couples in experiencing new passion. The purpose of this game is not just to educate, but also to inspire.

I recommend that, after trying out some of these approaches, a couple continue to talk occasionally about each of their unique preferences. Some of these skills or approaches may be desirable to you but not to your partner. In some cases, over time our partners may change and begin to like certain things and not like other things.

*It is important that you do not demand something that makes your partner uncomfortable and do not do something to your partner that he or she doesn't want. Sex is a precious gift that two people can give to each other when they love each other.

For sex and passion to grow over time, it is important that we not feel the possibility of being judged or criticized for our wishes and desires. We should always try to approach sex in a non-judgmental manner.

With this knowledge I set out to create a platform where folks could once again communicate person to person. The process to create our flagship game TXP took me a total of seven years. This includes game flow, board game design, card designs, pawn/game piece designs, dice designs, packaging design, and game instructions and another five years to design the sequential game(s) to follow. Collectively, it took me 16 years to bring TXP to the public eye.

This could not have happened without believing and being committed to my vision. I must mention that upon being ready to excite our launch to the world, I was blessed with my brother-in-law Jeffery O'Brien's belief in me and my creativity. His generous financial support and investment made Triple X Playground a dream come true.

My mission was to create high quality Adult Board Games, which are played by at least two people. Knowing that the adult industry has been saturated with toys intended for single play, I wanted to enhance the possibilities. Besides, games are more entertaining when taking turns. I offer this game as a reminder of many of the things you probably already know intuitively. I have personally benefited from each of the ideas I present, as I hope millions of people worldwide will. I sincerely hope you will all enjoy this game and continue to enjoy its insights for the rest of your days and nights.

Today, Triple X Playground has become an entire Adult Gaming Brand with a ready to launch full line of board games which cover all facets of one's fantasies and desires regardless of one's sexual preference. TXP is a fun-filled game that can be played among couples, with a third person, or in a group setting of up to three couples. TXP provides an opportunity to explore different sexual realms and suggestively take you to sexual heights you might have needed help discovering.

TXP is a fun filled game that comes with 200 playing cards and the dirtiest dice ever! It can serve a Lifestyle Swing Party of up to six players or a couple curious about the lifestyle. It's the perfect ice breaker. Soft limits and hard limits are set by players by selecting which cards they will use while playing the game.

Triple X Playground bridges the gap in communication between you and your significant other, all the while, ridding any awkwardness, judgment, and or criticism. In addition, this game will take your sexuality to New Heights. So, if you are seeking new experiences within your intimacy and are looking to enhance the communication level between you and your sexual partner, then look no further than Triple X Playground.

"You Set The Environment, and We Take It There"™.

For our latest updates, products and services, Be sure to visit our website at www.triplexplayground.com and don't forget to tell a friend to tell a friend!

Our social media handles:

Instagram: @triple\_x\_playground

Facebook: @Triple X Playground

Twitter: @triplexplaygrnd

TikTok: @Triple X Playground

Pinterest: @Triple X Playground

Tumblr: @Triple X Playground

YouTube: @Triple X Playground

Linkedin: @Jack "Machavelli" Polo

