

Arbitration Place and MIAS Announce Strategic Partnership Delivering a Fully Integrated, Cost-Efficient Arbitration Solution for Members and Their Clients

Miami, Florida – April 8th, 2026 Arbitration Place has announced a strategic partnership with the Miami International Arbitration Society (MIAS), serving as the in-house, white-glove concierge service provider for the MIAS community—offering a centralized, single point of contact to deliver and coordinate all the essential services required to conduct arbitrations, mediations, depositions, and related proceedings.

Arbitration Place enhances its existing presence in Miami, where it has been providing its full suite services directly to clients—including certified human court reporters fused with advanced AI technology, traditional real-time court reporting and transcription, cutting edge document management and evidence presentation systems, interpretation and translation services, and expert virtual hearing management, all delivered with concierge-level attention to detail.

This partnership brings together MIAS's distinguished and globally recognized network of arbitration practitioners with Arbitration Place's fully integrated service model—creating a consolidated solution that replaces the traditional multi-vendor process. MIAS further strengthens the value it delivers to its members by introducing exclusive benefits, including preferred pricing on service packages and access to an All-Encompassing Arbitration Concierge—a dedicated liaison responsible for coordinating every aspect of a proceeding from start to finish.

These exclusive benefits apply where Arbitration Place is engaged as the service provider and are not contingent on the use of an Arbitration Place-affiliated locations. MIAS members may access these services and benefits at any location selected for their proceedings.

This approach is structured to deliver meaningful commercial value to MIAS members and their firms—streamlining the process and reducing fragmentation, eliminating the need for logistical coordination by MIAS members, and delivering meaningful cost reductions for their clients.

This collaboration marks a significant step in advancing Miami's position as a leading destination for domestic and international arbitration—combining world-class hearing facilities, best-in-class integrated services, and access to a distinguished network of globally recognized arbitrators. This powerful alignment positions Miami alongside the world's leading arbitration hubs and strengthens its standing as one of the most attractive venues globally for high-value, complex disputes.

"As part of our continued global expansion, we are thrilled to be partnering with MIAS and further strengthening our presence in Miami. MIAS's leadership and its internationally respected network of arbitration practitioners have been instrumental in shaping a dynamic arbitration community, and this collaboration is designed to deliver immediate, practical value to its members. Through this partnership, Arbitration Place will introduce its fully integrated service model—combining purpose-built hearing facilities with best-in-class arbitration services—transforming how proceedings are run by eliminating the need to coordinate multiple providers, reducing administrative burden, and enabling MIAS members to operate more efficiently while delivering meaningful, tangible cost savings to their clients," said Jeffrey Mandell, Chairman and CEO of Arbitration Place.

"We are delighted to welcome our friends from Arbitration Place to Miami and make their services available to our members. Their interest in Miami confirms our place as a premier jurisdiction for international arbitration," added Francisco A. Rodriguez, Chair MIAS, Partner at Reed Smith.

In addition, Arbitration Place and MIAS will work together on strategic marketing initiatives and community engagement efforts, including co-branded announcements, event visibility, and member-focused programming, further reinforcing Miami's profile within the international arbitration community.

About the Miami International Arbitration Society (MIAS)

The Miami International Arbitration Society (MIAS) promotes the use of international arbitration and mediation and the selection of Miami as the situs for the resolution of transborder commercial and investment disputes.

MIAS maintains and enhances Miami's arbitral infrastructure by supporting appropriate legislation; developing academic programs; organizing international arbitration conferences; featuring distinguished practitioners as guest speakers and serving as a source of education for its members.

The Society also provides a forum where practitioners and others interested in international arbitration can network and exchange ideas and information about this growing practice area. MIAS does not administer arbitrations, but works closely with the major international arbitral institutions.
