

XINATIS Completes Embraer Legacy 600 Transaction

File Photo

Toronto, September 11, 2025 – XINATIS Consulting Inc. (“XINATIS”) announces the completion of a transaction for one (1) Embraer Legacy 600 preowned business jet relating to the purchase and onward sale of the aircraft to an undisclosed private operator.

“This transaction is a great example of how XINATIS adds value to the seller by expanding their market reach, supporting translation and transaction support, and enabling a smooth transition of aircraft programs between regions. This is also an excellent example of how we support our buyers as the aircraft will be transitioning to a well-renowned management company as part of the overall operational plan. We are looking forward to continuing such expanded partnerships where we bring more value to our customers by offering a broad range of solutions through well-established CAMO and management partner organizations,” said Sameer Adam, President & CEO, XINATIS.

About XINATIS

XINATIS offers more than 200 years of combined experience derived from various segments of the aviation industry including aircraft and engine OEMs, airlines, business aviation operators, financiers, lessors, and support services providers.

Our team has established an extensive network in the aviation sector in the areas of commercial and business aviation, special mission aircraft operations, aircraft leasing and financing, and technical services.

We offer a wide global network of high value relationships to support all aspects of aviation business requirements through our senior team of former airline CEOs, senior executives at various aviation OEMs, and financiers.

Our strategy-based approach is shaped by extensive expertise, deep market knowledge, and trusted affiliated partners covering commercial airlines, business aviation, and special mission operations.

For Information

Communications Team
info@xinatis.com