

XINATIS Completes Delivery of BBJ2 VIP Aircraft to Ethiopian Airlines

Singapore, March 18, 2025 – XINATIS Consulting Inc. (“XINATIS”) has completed the sale and delivery of a Boeing Business Jet (BBJ2) to Ethiopian Airlines Group to support the airline’s entry into the VIP and charter market. The BBJ2 aircraft is based on a Boeing 737-800 platform and configured with a customized VIP executive interior and ultra long-range fuel tanks. XINATIS is based in Canada and specializes in comprehensive aircraft sales, marketing, and leasing / financing solutions to commercial airlines and business jet operators worldwide.

“The XINATIS team offers a broad spectrum of aviation transaction and financing experience that can be customized to all types of aviation operations. This transaction is a unique opportunity to bring together the commercial airline and executive jet sectors where traditionally, the two are very different business environments. Ethiopian Airlines had been evaluating the possibility of a VIP aircraft for some time before approaching XINATIS to lend our expertise. Our team presented our experience from different facets of the aviation industry to bring together the first transaction of this kind in Africa. It is our great pleasure to support Ethiopian Airlines in embarking on a new trajectory of aviation opportunity development and to assist them on a plan for commercial airline operators to develop VIP charter opportunities with true executive configured aircraft.” said Sameer Adam, President & CEO, XINATIS. “This is just the beginning for African operators and governments to consider aligning resources and operations between airlines and the developing business aviation market on the continent.”

About XINATIS Consulting Inc.

XINATIS offers more than 200 years of combined experience derived from various segments of the aviation industry including aircraft and engine OEMs, airlines, business aviation operators, financiers, lessors, and support services providers.

Our team has established an extensive network in the aviation sector in the areas of commercial and business aviation, special mission aircraft operations, aircraft leasing and financing, and technical services.

We offer an established global network of high value relationships to support all aspects of aviation business requirements through our senior team of former airline CEOs, senior executives at various aviation OEMs, and financiers.

Our strategy-based approach is shaped by extensive expertise and deep market knowledge and trusted affiliated partnerships covering commercial airlines, business aviation, and special mission operations.

For Information

Communications Team
communications@xinatis.com